The Virtuous Circle: Teaching a Community How to Be a Community

Could “kindness” be a business model? Spokesman-Review editor Rob Curley will explain how Spokane’s oldest and largest news organization embraced the concept of “the virtuous circle” — showing how a community grows in innumerable ways when it works together for the positive. More importantly, this unique strategy illustrates how a company can show leadership during difficult times for its industry to prove that positivity can feed more than just a bottom line ... it can re-energize its hometown.

Learning Outcomes:

- Embrace change and do it in a way that meets the needs of your customers.
- When faced with a challenge, learn how positive leadership can keep your employees committed to the goals.
- Better understand the changing media landscape and how it impacts your work.

RENEWABLE Natural Gas, right here in Washington State!

When biogas is generated at Republic Services' Roosevelt Regional Landfill in Klickitat County, 95% becomes Renewable Natural Gas that heats homes and fuels vehicles.

Just imagine a day when we are no longer dependent upon fossil fuels! The resulting circular economy in Washington State is thanks to the innovative partnership among Republic Services®, Klickitat PUD, and Klickitat County. Republic Services' Roosevelt Regional Landfill continues to reduce our state's carbon footprint and provide value to rate payers.
